President of National Association of Wool Manufacturers Denounces Opponents

PORTER IS OPTIMISTIC

Washington, April 22—(P)—President Arthur Besse of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers today called OPA supporters guilty of "hokum" and set off a loud word row in the senate ranking committee.

Testifying at the start of hearings on legislation to extend price controls beyond June 30, Besse observed that administration leaders wanted OPA extended without crippling amendments and called this "hokum of the highest order."

Senator Tobey (R-NH) shouted for Besse to steer clear of opinion. "Are you saying that anybody who favors extension of OPA is guilty of hokum?" asked Senator Barkley (D-Ky). Told by Besse that was the case, Barkley roared: "Then I'm guilty of hokum. You will have to improve your testimony before I have any respect for it."

Tobey remarked he was going to discount Besse's testimony. "Well, I'm not discounting it," Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) declared. Capehart said Economic Stabilizer Chastor Bowles and Price Administrator Paul Porter had called businessmen "every sort of name."

"What is false for the goose is false for the gander," Capehart summed up.

"Well, let's get on with the goose," suggested Barkley and Besse resumed testimony—"a little overwhelmed," he said.

Besse said he called the administration stand against crippling amendments "hokum" because OPA is "crippled by its own inefficiency, stubbornness and lack of realism."

Bowles and Porter have declared that amendments to the price control law adopted by the house would be inflationary. The house changes, including a guaranteed profit clause and a progressive and to subsidies, are before the senate.

Downtown, Porter addressed a mass meeting of 3,000 OPA workers today, declaring:

"I believe the opposition has reached its high point. There is widespread public support for continued strong price control."

"Those who have appraised the house bill objectively, including some of our critics in congress, (Turn to Page Eleven)

Justice Stone Is Stricken In Court

Washington, April 22—(P)—Chief Justice Stone was led out of the supreme court today by two of his colleagues and a physician was summoned immediately.

Stone was supported under the arms by Justices Black and Reed. The court abruptly recessed shortly before 2 p. m. EST.

A court attaché said at 1:50 p. m. that a doctor had been summoned.

The interruption came just after Justice Reed had completed delivery of an opinion.

There was a moment of silence and then discussion behind the judges' bench with justices on either side of the centrally-seated Stone speaking to him in low tones.

Stone, who had spoken several times in delivering opinions, was reading a paper at the time.

As other justices talked with him, Stone spoke out in a voice audible to the front rows of the courtroom.

Major Parties Jockeying For Position In The May Primaries

Harrisburg, April 22—(P)—Pennsylvania's 1946 election shaped up today as a test for Republican and Democratic forces jockeying for position with an eye on the 1948 presidential campaign.

Governor Edward Martin is the Republican state organization's choice for the U. S. senate at the primary election May 21, and some of its leaders already are talking about the wartime executive and former commanding general of the 28th Division as presidential timber.

Martin must defeat Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, Pittsburgh, in the primary for the right to oppose Democratic U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey at the November election. Mrs. Jordan is running as an independent.

Guffey, campaigning on a pledge of the same 100 per cent backing of President Truman that he gave the late President Roosevelt, is unopposed for renomination.

Mention of Martin for president came from G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman and president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

The only Pennsylvanians ever elected president was James Buchanan, chosen in 1856.

Youth With Outstanding War Record Is Victim of Tractor Crash on Hill Near Starbrick

A World War veteran with a distinguished overseas record lost his life and his brother was painfully injured about four o'clock Saturday afternoon when a Fordson tractor careened out of control down Yankee Bush hill about a mile and a quarter from Starbrick and overturned as it was rounding a curve. The victim of the accident was Eugene D. Smith, 25, of RD 3, who died almost instantly from a broken neck. The injured man was Eugene Smith, same address, who sustained a painful scalp injury which was treated at Warren General Hospital.

At the time of the accident, according to information gathered by Coroner Ed Lowrey and Patrolman J. J. Mastrian, of the local barracks of the state police, the men were engaged in hauling a wagon load of lime, attached to the tractor, down the hill. The tractor was owned by a brother-in-law, H. E. White, who resides on the hill.

Eugene Smith told the officers that he was riding on the tractor descending the steep hill, when his brother evidently attempted to shift into second gear. While in neutral the tractor started a wild spurt down the hill and the operator was unable to get it back in to gear. Eugene reported that he called to his brother to jump just before he himself leaped from the runaway vehicle. Eugene, however, was vainly endeavoring to bring the tractor under control at the time and evidently decided to try to avert a wreck.

The tractor with wagon attached careened down the hill a distance of several hundred yards before it appeared to hit a ditch adjacent to a culvert which caused it to roll over. In the crash it is believed that the young woman was jammed against the back wheels after which he was thrown clear of the wreck onto an embankment along the right side of the road. Melvin Horton, a neighbor attracted by the noise made by the outfit was one of the first to the scene. He said that Eugene was dead when he arrived.

The Lutz ambulance was summoned and Coroner Ed Lowrey notified. He in turn summoned the state patrolman. They found the wreck of the tractor and wagon across the narrow earth road with the tractor turned completely around and headed up the hill. Some of the lime was still on the wagon hitched to the rear. The body of young Smith was still slumped over the embankment face down.

An examination of the body at the Lutz funeral home by physician revealed that the fourth and fifth cervical vertebrae were fractured; there was a large scalp laceration on the right side of the head above the ear, extending to the skull, although there was no indication of a skull fracture. There was also a laceration to the right side of the forehead extending about two inches into the eyebrow.

Services in memory of the victim of the tragedy will be held from the Lutz funeral home Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock conducted by the Rev. J. D. Abbott, of this city. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery with officers of the Dinsmore-Schwartz Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars in charge of the military ritual.

Lorenze DeWitt Smith was born in Warren September 21, 1920, and with the exception of over three years and a half in the armed forces, spent his entire life in the community. Before being inducted into the army, March 25, 1942, he was a punch press operator at the G. G. Greene Co. plant.

A member of Company A, First Engineer Battalion, he saw action in most of the major battles of World War II, having served in Algeria, French Morocco, Tunisia, Sicily, Normandy, Northern France, the Rhineland, Central Europe and the Ardennes.

On his discharge October 9, 1945, he was wearing the following decorations: Distinguished Unit Badge, two Oak Leaf Clusters, the European-African medal, Eastern Service Medal, Bronze Star, one Bronze Service Arrowhead. A brother, William last his life in the war.

Vital Issues Confronting U. N. Council

New York, April 22—(P)—The United Nations Security Council has two major questions confronting it this week. One is whether to drop the Russian-Iranian case now; the other is Franco Spain.

That is the order the cases are slated to come up. The council will end a long Easter weekend recess tomorrow with its program calling for immediate consideration of the Russian-Iranian case. Upon a solution of that problem, at least for the time being, the eleven-delegate world peace agency will plunge once more into the Spanish situation.

It appears there is little more than a formality left to the Iranian problem, unless some delegates choose to make long addresses to support their actions.

The problem, in brief, is whether the council will accede to a vigorous demand by Russia that it drop Iran forthwith from its agenda. The Iranians have formally withdrawn the complaint against Russia which they lodged in London last Jan. 18. The Russians have reported an agreement with Iran and have demanded that the council cease making Iran its business.

Upon disposition of the Iranian case, the council next has on its docket the charges by Poland that Franco Spain is a menace to world peace and is harboring Nazi soldiers concerning the subject of which he talks.

Puppet Minister Is Given Sentence

Soochow, April 22—(P)—Chu Min-Yi, puppet foreign minister of the Japanese-sponsored government at Nanking, was sentenced to death today and Madame Wang Ching-Wei, wife of the puppet governor, was given a life term for treason.

The bearded pale-faced Chu, who had asked the court not to sentence him to jail but to execute him if it found him guilty, sighed audibly in the hot, crowded Kiangsu high court as Judge Sung Sung-Ling read the verdict.

Stout, short Madame Wang appeared calm and she listened to her sentence being pronounced but became angry when the judge at the end of the verdict said she could file an appeal to the Nanking supreme court within ten days.

She said, "I will not appeal—since you will not accept the facts anyway."

The session lasted 20 minutes. Chu's treason charge was based on the contention that as foreign minister he signed treaties with the enemy, declared war on China's Allies and late became governor of Kwangtung province.

104 TREATED AFTER WRECK OF NEW HAVEN

Boston, April 22—(P)—A railroad fireman was dead today, an engineer in critical condition, and at least 104 persons were treated for minor injuries in four hospitals after the head-on collision last night of two New Haven railroad passenger trains near Readville in suburban Boston.

Railroad officials said a six-car Hartford-to-Boston train collided head on with a four-car Boston-to-Providence train. They added that an investigation was now underway to determine cause of the crash which instigated the greatest emergency mobilization in this city since the Cocoanut Grove fire which cost nearly 500 lives.

CONGRESSMAN IN CRASH

Uniontown, April 22—(P)—Congressman Nobel Johnson of Indiana, injured in a truck-automobile accident near here, was discharged from Uniontown hospital last night. Attendants said his wife, also hurt in the Saturday night collision, probably would be confined to the hospital a week.

Washington, Pa., April 22—(P)—An automobile overturned on Route 40 yesterday, killing 22-year-old Norman Randolph of Washington and injuring four other occupants. State police said the driver told them he was blindfolded by the lights of an approaching car.

KILLED IN CRASH

Centerville, April 22—(P)—Alex Saxton, 40, of Brownsville, R. D. 1, was killed yesterday when his automobile swerved from the road and struck a guard rail, Deputy Coroner John Timko reported. Saxton's brother, John, was unhurt.

U. S. Officials In Korea "Using Noodle"

Seoul, April 22—(P)—"Use the noodle" is a practical pun to the U. S. military government.

Five noodle plants have been opened in the past five weeks to alleviate the food problem by substituting for rice and other grains. The plants have produced approximately 165,000 pounds of noodles which will be marketed soon. Lt. Col. Carroll V. Hill of Pittsburgh, Pa., military government food administrator, said.

Four Japs Pay Penalty For Yank Tortures

Shanghai, April 22—(P)—Glum-faced Maj. Gen. Masataka Kaburagi, former chief of staff of the imperial Japanese 34th Army, and four of his subordinates died on the gallows at Ward Road jail this morning for their part in the torture parade and strangulation of three American fliers at Hankow in December, 1944.

This was the first execution of war criminals by Americans in the Chinese theatre.

Besides Kaburagi, those executed were Warrant Officer Tsutomu Fuji, Sgt. Maj. Shozzo Masui, Sgt. Koichi Masuda and Lance Corp. Yosaburo Shirakawa.

The five were convicted of responsibility for the deaths of Lt. Lester R. White, of Sickville, Pa., and Sergeants Henry Wheaton, of Milwaukee, and James E. Forbes, Jr., of East Hartford, Conn., members of a B-29 crew whose plane crashed in China.

The trio—almost nude—was paraded and beaten for three hours through the ice streets of Hankow December 16, 1944, in an attempt to arouse the hatred of the Chinese against the United States. They were then beaten, strangled and thrown into a crematorium still alive.

Kaburagi, who admitted approving the spectacle, testified in his trial that it was carried out in an effort to arouse public opinion sufficiently for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to ask the United States to cease bombing the Hankow area.

Britain Bomb Story Causes Mild Interest

Brighton, England, April 22—(P)—Quoting information he said he had obtained from "an American" during his last visit to the United States, Prof. Harold Laski declared yesterday that the U. S. has a new atom bomb powerful enough to "devastate . . . Indiana and Illinois."

Five of the bombs could "destroy the whole of the United States south of the Mason-Dixon line," Laski asserted.

Laski, who attacked the policy of secrecy surrounding the development of atomic energy in an address before the British cooperative party conference declined to reveal the name of his source, but declared that the new bombs were much more powerful than those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The policy of secrecy was described by the chairman of the British Labor Party executive committee as "an onslaught on the well being of the human race."

(Atom bomb experts in Washington discounted Laski's statement that the United States is making a vastly more powerful bomb. Senator Hart (R-Conn.), a member of the special senate committee on atomic energy, said he was "quite certain that Mr. Laski actually knows nothing whatever concerning the subject of which he talks.")

Ellwood City Man Gets Life Sentence

New Castle, April 22—(P)—Judge W. Walter Braham today sentenced Irvin C. Herge, 43, of Ellwood City, to life imprisonment in the slaying last October of blonde Jean Fatur, 20-year-old former five and ten cent store clerk, also of Ellwood City.

Herge, father of three children, smiled calmly as sentence was pronounced after he was found guilty of first degree murder. His wife, Esther, who was present in the Lawrence county courtroom, showed no sign of emotion.

Herge declared himself "well satisfied" with the sentence.

Herge had pleaded guilty to murder in Miss Fatur's death and President Judge Braham then held a hearing to determine the defendant's degree of guilt.

BYRNES GOING TO PARIS FOR PEACE TALKS

Secretary of State Ready To Leave Tomorrow For Critical Conferences

MAY BE TURNING POINT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Reporter

Washington, April 22—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes sets out for Paris tomorrow and another try at world peace-making, gravely aware by his own account of the possibilities of failure.

The secretary is slated to reach Paris in ample time to begin on Thursday a series of critical conferences with Foreign Ministers Molotov of Russia, Bevin of Britain and Bidault of France.

Some of Byrnes' closest associates and advisers are talking of this meeting as a possible turning point in the history of World War II.

They suggest that actually it could mark the end of efforts by Britain, Russia and the United States to work harmoniously to set up European peace settlements and to build the United Nations into a powerful agency for maintaining the peace once it is created.

Should this happen, and Byrnes himself is reported to have indicated the possibility to a meeting of the senate foreign relations committee last Friday, it probably would result in open and unlimited creation of spheres of influence—something the United States thus far has opposed wherever possible. Also it would link America and Britain even more tightly in common interests and policies than they now are.

In fact, even if these extremes do not develop, the Paris conference may see the United States making one of its strongest moves in defense of Britain's empire interests.

There are increasing evidences—among them, grave American concern over Russia's position in Iran until the Red army began to get out—that American officials currently regard the British empire system as one of the bulwarks of world order which the United States cannot afford to have weakened at any strategic point.

The issue may come about clearly in the deadlock already created over Russia's demand for a trusteeship over Tripolitania and Britain's and America's absolute objection.

The real problem is British control of the Mediterranean, and in relation to Tripoli, to the Dodecanese islands and to the Dardanelles. American policy is understood to provide that Britain's life-line interests should suffer no serious harm.

The deadlock over these and other peace-making problems which now are going into the Paris conference are largely the same as those which sent Byrnes home in failure from a meeting with the same group in London last September.

Chet Leader To Be Tried As Traitor

Belgrade, April 22—(P)—Gen. Draza Mihailovic, former Chetnik leader, will be tried in open court next month as a traitor.

Lt. Gen. Alexander Rankovic, minister of the interior, said in an interview yesterday that the guerrilla leader, who once was hailed as a hero in the Allied cause, had admitted under preliminary questioning that he had collaborated with the Germans.

Rankovic, announced details of Mihailovic's capture last month in the wild, war-devastated border region between Bosnia and Serbia, also asserted that hitherto secret documents proved that Mihailovic "collaborated with the occupation forces and committed other crimes against the people."

Strike Parley At Pittsburgh Resumes

Pittsburgh, April 22—(P)—Negotiations, ending an Easter weekend recess, returned today to the task of finding a basis for settlement of the wage dispute of 76,000 CIO-Electrical Workers at Westinghouse Electric Corporation plants.

The strike, now nearly 100 days old, has cost idle workmen an estimated $40,000,000 in wages.

The negotiations are expected to center on incentive pay adjustment and rates for lamp division workers in West Virginia and New Jersey plants.

A two-day session which ended Friday—the first negotiations in more than a month—drew statements from both management and union representatives that "no progress" was apparent.

As pickets returned to Westinghouse plant gates last night after a one-day withdrawal for Easter, union leaders launched what they styled a "make Westinghouse Settlement Week." They said 100,000 handbills were distributed outlining the union's position in the strike.

Chemical Explosion Rocks Plant

Chemical explosions send smoke billowing skyward in a spectacular mushroom of flame as fire sweeps through the Barrett Division of the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation in northeastern Philadelphia. The cloud of smoke was so intense that cities across the Delaware river in New Jersey were forced to turn on their street lights. Seventy-five families were evacuated from the fire area.

Gen. Marshall After Details Of Air Attack

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Chungking, April 22—(P)—General Marshall formally demanded today that the Chinese Communists either publicly retract or furnish details of their unopposed charge that American planes attacked Communist forces in Manchuria and that one was shot down.

Marshall, special American envoy seeking to establish peace between the warring Chinese factions, held an inconclusive three-hour meeting with Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator, and a separate session with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Chou said he was radioing field commanders for information on the reported air attacks, which allegedly occurred near embattled Szepingai last week.

Government reports from Manchuria said today that Chinese Communist troops "are gathered like clouds" in the Kungchulin district east of Changchun, where the government's first army apparently made slow progress in its effort to reach the fallen capital.

Kungchulin is 36 miles from Changchun, captured by the Communists last week.

Lt. Gen. Chao Chia-Hsiang, acting commander of the government army in the northeast, was scheduled to fly from Mukden to the Changchun area today to report on the military situation there.

The New Life (Peiping daily) correspondent said five United States newsmen, including Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson, were safe in Changchun, but without freedom of action. Approximately 100 government officials there also were detained.

Shakeup at Tokyo Said To Have Been Necessary To Stabilize the Political Situation

M'ARTHUR IS NOTIFIED

By RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo, April 22—(P)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara and his cabinet resigned in a group tonight under pressure from the leading political parties, who were expected to join the deposed prime minister in forming a new cabinet.

All ministers agreed to the resignation after Shidehara and Cabinet Secretary Wataru Noro explained to them that this action was "necessary to stabilize the political situation," Narashi said in announcing the decision.

Shidehara became premier six months ago after a series of political shakeups which followed Japan's surrender.

The action, predicted since no party succeeded in gaining a majority in the April 12 election, came under a series of political maneuvers so complex that they dazzled the ordinary Japanese and left the makeup of the next government obscure.

The 74-year-old premier took his resignation to the imperial palace tonight. Emperor Hirohito accepted it in one-hour audience but followed with the traditional practice of asking Shidehara to remain in office until his successor could be appointed.

Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida conveyed the resignation decision to General MacArthur previously through one of supreme headquarters staff officers.

This first full-time occupation cabinet, appointed soon after the surrender, ended its six months' tenure today as just another suburb of New York—less than a half hour's ride by jet plane.

A P-80 Shooting Star covered the distance between La Guardia Field and National Airport yesterday in 29 minutes and 15 seconds for an average speed of approximately 456 miles an hour or 7.6 miles a minute.

British Loan Gets Approval of Vandenberg

Washington, April 22—(P)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) called for unrestricted senate approval of the $3,750,000,000 British loan "for the sake of American welfare in a peaceful world."

Vandenberg told his colleagues that he had "struck my balance" in a "reluctant" decision that "the bill should pass for the sake of America."

The Michigan senator said he had been more perplexed by the issue than any he had faced previously in 18 years as a senator.

"To pass the bill is a gigantic speculation," he said. "Not to pass the bill may be an even greater speculation. Whether we like it or not, destiny may be in these scales today."

Galleries were crowded as Vandenberg took the floor to state his views before leaving tomorrow with Secretary of State Byrnes for the Paris conference of foreign ministers. Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson was in the audience.

Before the senate met, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) told reporters he had no intention of displacing the loan bill with draft extension legislation unless a final vote unexpectedly is delayed until within a few days of May 15—Expiration date of the Selective Service law.

Democratic leaders had wanted to take the day off to give members (Turn to Page Eleven)

Over 2,000 Nazis Are Poison Victims

Trenton, N. J., April 22—(P)—Weary forest fire fighters battled in today as a change in wind caused new flare-ups in a Burlington county fire that has already consumed 12,000 acres, including 2,900 acres of the Penn state forest southeast of Chatsworth.

More than 2,000 wardens and volunteers fought 125 fires that burned 17,935 acres of woodland over the three-day holiday weekend. The 251 state fire wardens and 1,753 fire fighters looked hopefully to the skies for a rainy spell to dampen the timber dry wooded areas and end the fires.

The Burlington county fire and another which burned through 3,100 acres near Egg Harbor in Atlantic county gave the state forest service its "worst day in two years," State Fire Warden William J. Seidel said.

Mr. Truman and his White House staff arrived from Washington earlier in the day aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg. They will return to that vessel Tuesday afternoon to cruise for the rest of the week in the Chesapeake bay area.

Inquiries Are Pouring In From Persons Anent National Forest

R. F. Hemingway, Supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, stated this morning that inquiries are pouring into the local Forestry office from far and wide relative to the forest. Mr. Hemingway states that the inquiries are relative to camping sites, summer cottages and possible hotel accommodations. To all he is forced to state that cottages are not available nor are there any hotels in the forest area itself but in the towns contiguous to it. One inquiry from a party in Maryland seeks quarters for the summer. "It is to be regretted," said Mr. Hemingway today, "that the people of this section have not awakened to the need for recreational facilities in this area and prepared for it. We are forced to tell those who make inquiries that there are camping sites for parties who bring their own housing facilities, such as tents and trailers. There are hundreds of sites and by obtaining a permit from a ranger almost any portion of the forest may be entered. Inquiries have come in from almost every state in the Union. The recreational demand is mounting and with plenty of cars tourists by the thousands would come to this area if facilities existed.

"The demand for lumber now precludes any building although pre-fabricated cottages could be secured and placed in the areas in the forest. Smart folk would buy sites now for camps and erect buildings as soon as lumber shortages are eased. There are 165,000 acres in the forest that might be purchased for cottage or hotel sites and if this were done the future demand for recreational facilities would be immense."

In all the forest area outlined for purchase and purchased amounts to 726,000 acres. Of this the forestry department figures 100,000 acres are purchasable as soon as money is available. This leaves 626,000 for forest purposes of which the government now owns 461,000 acres. Thus it can be seen there are 165,000 acres open to purchase for cottage and other purposes.

As the years pass the demand for cottages, etc., will increase and Warren and every town in the forest area must awaken.

Two Pinned In Cabin Car At Ridgway

Another in a series of wrecks on the Renovo division took place Friday just west of Ridgway when two cars of a local freight were derailed tossing the caboose of the train over an embankment. Harry Whitford, of St. Marys and Grover Mason, of Ridgway were in the caboose and it had to be chopped in two in order to extricate the pair. They were taken to the Ridgway Hospital where after examination they were discharged. Both were bruised and badly shaken up but had no fractures or lacerations.

The local freight had just pulled out of Ridgway and was heading west and at a point just outside of Ridgway the two cars were derailed. They were loaded with locomotives for Russian railroads and they were tossed off the cars which tore up 300 feet of tracks before the train was halted. The two flat cars were just ahead of the caboose car.

Traffic was impeded for some time but crews of men cleared the tracks and had traffic again moving Friday evening, and it was not necessary to detour either of the passenger trains Friday morning.

Boy Injured By Car Suffers Serious Hurts

Bobby, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam LeTrent, 300 Walnut street, is in a serious condition at the Warren General Hospital with a fractured skull and both legs broken as a result of being hit by an automobile driven by Joseph Ulrich, 960 1/2 Fourth avenue west, about five o'clock Friday afternoon while crossing Pennsylvania avenue east near Schanz street. Latest report from the hospital is that he had a good night and his condition is fair.

According to the investigation made by the police the little tot who had been staying with a relative on North Carver street, was with two companions who were on the opposite side of the street. Daring out from between two parked cars he dashed directly in front of the Ulrich machine so suddenly that the driver was unable to avoid the accident. Barbara Lesser, Girl Reserve Secretary, arrived at the scene immediately after the accident and administered first aid until the arrival of the Lutz ambulance which rushed him to the hospital. Miss Lesser was highly commended by the investigation officers for excellent service rendered at the scene.

MAY HALT PRODUCTION

An OPA ruling may halt the production of printing blocks for under cuts in newspapers and job printing by the Irwin Manufacturing Company, of Garland. A new ruling just made may stop the manufacture of these necessary bits of lumber of which the Garland Company has been turning out and shipping large quantities.

FLYKOD FOUND

A fine flyrod and reel were found on the highway not far from Tidout on the second day of the trout season and information as to their whereabouts have been filed with the Corry state police substation. Anyone from this vicinity who lost a rod and reel and can identify them should apply to the Corry state police.

FIRES REPORTED

The Corriplanter Forest Area had a severe fire yesterday when 75 acres in the Drake well park was burned over. The fire was started by two drunks and ran over the dry grass in short order. Fire fighting crews held the fire in check. One fire was fought by the Warren crew with firemen from the local station at the head of Jefferson street and a small fire at the General Concrete Products Company.

HAD TWO RUNS

Firemen yesterday had two runs, the first being to 118 Pennsylvania avenue west, where a Dodge sedan owned by Harry Brown, of Bradford was afire. Little loss was done, the wiring only being affected. The second call was for a grass and brush fire at the head of Jefferson street. This blaze was spreading rapidly and was deemed necessary to call the firemen.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Under the law you have certain inalienable rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Driving an automobile is not a right, it is a privilege. If you abuse this privilege it may be withdrawn. You may front of the privilege of operating an automobile only so long as you drive safely and do not endanger others who have equal privileges with you. The Secretary of Revenue may suspend your operating privilege for any violation of the motor code.

REFRIGERATOR PRICES UP

OPA has raised the retail price on new refrigerators by four per cent over the March 1942 levels to offset higher production costs. The agency granted manufacturers an eight per cent increase which it said will be reflected in full at retail. The retail price hike is less on a percentage basis than manufacturers increase because the latter adjustment is being based on the exact dollar-and-cent amount rather than the markup basis. The eight per cent increase allowed the manufacturer is the first industry-wide price boost granted the industry since the end of the war, the OPA said. It reflects all labor and materials cost increases allowable under the new wage-price policy, the agency said.

Old Resort Revival Is Now Planned

Allegheny Springs, which in the nineties afforded many from this city and adjoining territory a quiet, restful summer resort has been disposed of to Mr. and Mrs. John Sowa, 635 Main street, Youngsville. The resort which at one time boasted a large frame hotel and baths for the use of the famous sulphur water as well as numerous cottages has declined with the use of the automobile. There are however a dozen or more cottages that are still in use. The water of the spring is famed over the nation as relief for neuritis, arthritis and rheumatism and at one time scores came to spend the summer season and to enjoy "the cure."

The Springs were owned for the past 50 years by the late William Culbertson, who had a cottage and sold sites, etc. It is the purpose of the new owners to awaken a new interest in the Springs for people who desire a delightful place to spend the summer months and enjoy the benefits of the wonderful water. They anticipate the securing of electric lines into the springs which will make electric lights available for cottage owners, who have always been forced to use kerosene lamps for illumination. Repairs will be made on the spring house and other features will be rejuvenated. The fine stand of pine timber surrounding the springs will not be disturbed and improvements are planned to be made from time to time in an effort to restore the popularity of the resort.

Opportunities To Be Found In Organized Reserve Corps

Pittsburgh, April 22—Former enlisted men of the Army were today encouraged to acquaint themselves with opportunities in the Organized Reserve Corps by Maj. Bruce W. Canright, new commanding officer of the Pittsburgh district of the ORC.

Keynoting the growing program of providing assistance to those interested in the Organized Reserve Corps, Maj. Canright urged former GI's and members of the ORC to visit his offices in Pittsburgh and sub-district offices under his command in Butler, Erie, and Uniontown.

"Extensive training and education and attractive promotional opportunities will soon be available to members of the Organized Reserve Corps," Maj. Canright announced. Directing his remarks particularly to enlisted men who in the haste of reparation did not give the ORC sufficient thought, the Major urged, "Now is the time to join!" All men who were honorably discharged after May 12, 1945 may enlist in the grade and branch of service in which serving at time of discharge, he pointed out, providing they apply within six months of the date of the new War Department regulations, which was February 13, 1946, and are otherwise qualified.

Vets Showing Interest In Study Groups

Scranton, April 22—The first apprentice training program for returning veterans under the G. I. Bill of Rights has been launched in New Jersey, making use of International Correspondence Schools courses, George W. Wilson, vice president of I. C. S., announced today.

The Neptune High School at Ocean Grove, first school to initiate the supervised group study plan for veterans, has pioneered this apprentice training method also, Mr. Wilson said. Eighty students, most of them apprentices to the plumbing and carpentry trades, are already enrolled at Neptune. Additional centers for the program are in operation in the schools at Matawan and Freehold, and others are being organized.

Mr. Wilson pointed to the record of the supervised study groups as evidence that the apprentice program may be expected to gain acceptance throughout the country. Since the study groups were first organized a little more than a year ago, he said, 14 states have adopted that plan and it is now in effect in 109 high schools with an enrollment of 3,175 students in I. C. S. courses alone.

Mr. Wilson explained that apprentice training arrangements require the student to receive at least 144 hours of class instruction per year in subjects directly related to his job. The apprenticeship agreement must provide also for progressive job experiences in which the employer will give on-the-job instruction. Each organization desiring to employ and train apprentices must first have its program approved by the State Department of Public Instruction. The vets enrolled may then obtain subsistence under the G. I. Bill to bring their total earnings up to the journeyman's wage-rate in each community.

DANGEROUS ONE-WAY STREETS

The victorious wartime alliance against the Axis has shown definite symptoms of breaking up ever since hostilities ceased. These symptoms are still present. And while they are distressing, they are not unnatural.

It has long been the practice of nations, especially the strong ones, to go their own way when it seemed expedient to do so. A sort of private-enterprise system among nations has always been popular, whatever the shade of a nation's domestic politics. Jealous guardianship of sovereignty, prestige, and prerogatives has been emphasized at the expense of efforts for the common good.

The United Nations, like the League of Nations before it, is trying to break these old habits. It isn't an easy job. But it is made easier by two rather unrelated and intangible factors. One is the lingering memory of the efficacy of sticking together in the face of common peril, which the war so pointedly emphasized. The other is the bad time that the old technique of unilateral action has been having of late.

A good example of the latter, of course, is the Russo-Iranian dispute. Russia started it off with a unilateral violation of a three-power agreement to get foreign troops out of Iran on a given date. Russia then tried a rather dramatic unilateral opposition to the UN Security Council's decision, with her representative leaving the council's sessions when his government's wishes were denied.

Further, Russia exhibited the traditionally touchy national pride when her representative asked (as a rather obscure point of honor, apparently) that the Iranian matter be removed from the council's agenda.

In each instance, collective action prevailed, though not triumphantly. And Russia, despite an impressive performance, failed to win her points completely with her "master strokes."

An equally good example has been our stumbling policy toward Argentina. Our opposition to the pro-Axis clique has been sound, but our technique has been bad. The State Department has gone its own way in all directions, appeasing and denouncing, attacking and withdrawing.

Our government went its own way without consuming its Pan-American neighbors. Being incomparably stronger than other Western Hemisphere nations, it was vulnerable to suspicions of "Yankee imperialism." Lacking Pan-American support, it succeeded only in arousing a united feeling of national pride in Argentina, and thus helping Colonel Peron toward the presidency.

There still remains considerable danger of unilateral strife within the United Nations; of opposition for opposition's sake between Russia on the one hand and an Anglo-American team on the other. But if the unhappy consequences of such actions continue to be forthcoming, they should help the world's nations along their painful journey toward unity for the world's salvation.

The common peril remains. So does the war's lesson of how it was averted. Most nations, like most of their inhabitants, learn slowly and with difficulty. But there are hopeful signs that they are learning.

WASTED FOOD IN A HUNGRY WORLD

At this time of acute food shortages, it is disturbing to read that an estimated 25 per cent of fresh fruits and vegetables grown in this country each year is lost through waste and spoilage. That means, in effect, that one of every four acres devoted to those products is never really used, and that two out of every eight hours which the farmer devotes to them are wasted.

Dr. Charles W. Hauck of Ohio State University has concluded that this lost food would supply the normal fruit and vegetable needs of Belgium, Holland, Czechoslovakia, and Greece. He has further concluded that the excuses generally given for this loss—inevitably due to the perishable nature of the product or the thoughtlessness of a well-fed nation—are not necessarily valid.

Dr. Hauck calls attention to experiments now being carried on in Columbus, O., by retail stores and several suppliers. Losses have been cut by packaging the food in consumer-size units at the farm and shipping it in improved containers. They have been cut further by consumer packaging and refrigeration in the stores. In the near future air transport of highly perishable items and a hoped-for speeding up of other transportation will cut the losses even further.

Certainly, these experiments should be continued and their effective results made widely available. And, just as certainly, careless waste in our own kitchens should and can be combatted immediately. In a hungry world it is no less than a moral responsibility to use

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The case of Generalissimo Franco, who is now being tried in absentia by the U.N. Security Council, may establish a precedent determining how far the jurisdiction of our new peace organization shall extend over the internal affairs of any country.

Since this concerns sovereignty it is a matter of life-or-death importance to every nation. Thus it behooves us to examine the situation carefully to find out just what is involved. This is especially necessary because some elements have been injected into it that its composition is as complicated as a potpourri.

Our difficulty in arriving at conclusions is increased by the fact that the case cuts a lot deeper than the actual charges which have been laid before the security council. On the books, the accusation which Poland has made is that the Franco regime is endangering international peace. In substantiation Poland asserts that the Spanish government is giving refuge to war criminals and Nazi leaders, is aiding German scientists who are in Spain inventing new methods of warfare, and has concentrated a large force of troops near the French frontier.

On the strength of these charges Poland—backed by Russia, France and Mexico—demands that the United Nations break off diplomatic relations with Spain. The United States, Britain and Holland, among others while turning thumbs down on the Franco regime, hold that it doesn't threaten international peace and that they want the Spanish people themselves to get rid of the fascist government, and do it without precipitating another civil war.

That's the case on the books. Underlying it, however, is a political issue which had its birth when Franco began his successful rebellion against the Leftist Republican government of Madrid back in 1936, thereby creating one of the most terrible civil wars of history.

There is sitting in France the Spanish Republican government in exile under the premiership of Jose Giral, waiting for the opening which will bring it to power in Madrid. When I crossed the French-Spanish frontier ten weeks ago I was told by a French source that a great number of Spanish revolutionary elements were collected along the border in France waiting for the signal to strike.

Well now, the Soviet Union and the other states which are calling for the breaking of relations with Franco are anxious to see the Giral government placed in power. Russia thus is staunchly consistent with the stand which she has taken all along; for she gave moral and material support to the leftist Madrid government during the civil war while Germany and Italy were sending aid to Franco.

England hasn't concealed her dislike, and even fear, of any development which would result in the establishment of a communist government in Spain. This would mean, of course, the extension of Russian influence clear across Europe.

So it's easy to see with half an

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
(First of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON — Big Four of the Republican drive to capture the House of Representatives in the November elections are Reps. Joe Martin Jr., Mass.; B. (for Brazilla) Carroll Reece, Tenn., new chairman of the GOP National Committee; Clarence J. Brown, Ohio, executive committee chairman; and Charles A. Halleck, Ind., chairman of the Republican Congressional committee.

Martin is minority floor leader. For the purpose of this article it is necessary to say only that in the party and out it's considered certain that he will be Speaker of the House should the Republicans gain the necessary 27 seats next fall to give them the 218 majority.

The others are the Three Musketeers of the Republican Old Guard in the House. They are close friends, politically and socially.

REP. HALLECK is a veteran of House political leadership. When Rep. J. William Ditter, Pa., died in December, 1943, Halleck was handed the Congressional campaign committee chairmanship without much argument.

Both observers and party leaders say that he could have had the Republican National Committee chairmanship if he had wanted it. Both Brown and Reece would have backed him for that post. He didn't want it.

Many of the same observers and national committee members say Brown could have won the national chairmanship if he had made a run for it. Halleck and Reece would have backed him. He refused to run. Thus, the chore fell to Reece, and Brown and Halleck were behind him from start to finish.

THE reasons for Halleck's and Brown's turning it down were the same:

1. Both are politically ambitious and feel that their aims will best be served by whittling away in the House. The Republican National Committee wanted a full-time man in the chairmanship, and neither Halleck nor Brown felt the sacrifice of his House seat advisable at this time. 2. Both men are pretty thoroughly convinced that the House is going Republican next November. If it does and stays that way for some years, both may have a shot at the coveted Speakership. Long Distance Lines are like crowded highways

EVERY DAY many Long Distance lines are like crowded highways. We are building new circuits, putting in new switchboards, training new operators. But until they are ready we ask your patience and forbearance while we try to serve everybody who wants to make Long Distance calls.

When you use Long Distance only for necessary calls, it helps keep the lines clear. And when you keep your calls brief it cuts down the delay on other necessary calls.

For a while longer—until we can get new lines and switchboards into service—we hope you will help by making only necessary Long Distance calls.

eye that there's a lot more involved in the Spanish case than the elimination of the Franco regime. An equally big question is who succeeds Franco and who selects his successor. America and Britain insist that this is strictly a matter for the whole people of Spain to decide.

Avoidance of creating another civil war also obviously is imperative. When I was in Spain I saw plenty of evidence that Franco was prepared militarily for eventualities. I was reliably informed that he had a standing army of some 700,000 which was fairly well equipped with light arms. He also has built many highways which would serve for quick movement of troops, and there are many concrete redoubts and other defenses, at least in the neighborhood of the capital, because I saw them.

There may be doubts about some aspects of this Spanish imbroglio, but of one thing I am sure: If a civil war is precipitated in Spain it will produce a horror which will stun the world.

Hearing Set May 15 on River Navigation; Canal Proposed

Olean, April 22—Interest was renewed here today in proposals to make the Allegheny River navigable from Pittsburgh to Olean by an announcement that U. S. Army Engineers from Pittsburgh would conduct a hearing on the subject at Warren, Pa., May 15.

Proponents of the plan from cities along the river are expected to file briefs with the engineers. The hearing will be held at the Courthouse beginning at one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon.

Word that the hearing would be held came from Congressman Leon H. Gavin, Oil City, Pa., to officials of the Allegheny River Improvement Association and the Upper Allegheny River Improvement Association at Warren, Pa.

Harold C. Putnam, president of the former organization, Ben Kinnear, president of the latter organization; and James H. Frantz, secretary of both groups, conferred Thursday afternoon with J. R. Ewing, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Roland E. Stove, Chamber of Commerce secretary; and Nelson M. Fuller, Olean water superintendent.

The Warren officials said proponents of the project contemplated linking of the Allegheny with the Barge Canal from Olean to Rochester.

This link, it was pointed out, would make possible shipment by boat of oil and grain from all states in the Mississippi River region on inland waterways to New York City.

The River of Improvement Association officers showed a map of United States canals and rivers, and said that oil barges now move from the Gulf of Mexico up the

Corydon Will Protest Dam In Allegheny

Corydon, April 22—The Corydon Civic Forum meeting of April 18, opened under direction of president George Oberlin with the Forum's secretary, Mrs. Ruth Crooks reading the minutes of the previous gathering. Petitions protesting the Kinzua Dam project for the upper Allegheny valley and in favor of the Upper Allegheny Improvement Project were presented for distribution among a large committee chosen for the purpose of placing them in circulation of various localities as early as Friday, April 19. Mrs. Carl Laubach, was named as petition secretary.

Other matters of business included a motion made and carried that George Oberlin and Mr. Lilly, the latter a Kinzua oilman, represent Corydon valley citizens at a flood control meeting to be held in Pittsburgh on Tuesday, April 23, decision having been made following a request for representation from the Pittsburgh committee sent by both wire and letter to Paul R. Duntley of this community.

L. J. Whyte, chairman of the executive committee held brief report on a special session held as did Mrs. Nell J. Caldwell, publicity chairman.

Corydon for some time feeling the need of a recreation center including entertainment facilities for its large group of young people this issue met with favorable approval and while set aside for the present will be brought to light again in the near future. All persons interested in the Allegheny day project from Corydon and elsewhere are asked to join the Corydon Civic group at another meeting on April 25.

years of campaigning in the early 1800's, the Erie Canal was actually completed between Rochester and Olean in 1856, thus connecting the Allegheny River with the Erie Canal. It was closed, however, in 1878.

The plan for the Kinzua dam was discussed at Thursday's session. It was stated that if the dam were constructed, navigation of the river to Olean would not be possible. If the dam is built, the navigation project is out of the picture; and if the river is made navigable, the dam cannot be constructed. The dam would block use of the river by boats to Olean, it was said.

The Warren officials reported that Salamanca residents were interested in the river plan, and that they planned to be represented at the Warren hearing.

ADVENTURES IN SPACE: The Story of Radar

No. 15: Radar Goes to Bikini

BY DAVID DIETZ
Noted Science Writer; Author of "Atomic Energy in the Coming Era," Etc.
(Written for NEA Service)

(1) As we view the past, present and future of radar, we are reminded how swiftly science has progressed and how much we know. And yet the fact of the matter is that we know very little and far greater wonders than yet imagined may be just around the corner.

Regular transatlantic radio communication was first achieved during World War I by the use of the huge high frequency generator developed by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson. In the years after world War I, short wave radio was developed, making it possible, for example, for American amateurs to talk by short wave radio to Admiral Byrd at the South Pole. Many amateurs accomplished this feat with home-made short wave sets that cost them less than $25 to build.

(2) With World War II scientists developed the use of microwaves whose length was to be measured in inches. These resulted in the various forms of the radar and such extensions as the loran for long range navigation. Now that the war is over these devices are certain to improve television and to find many peacetime uses in aviation. One certain use will be for the landing of planes in fog or bad weather. It is likewise certain that they will be used by ships at sea.

(3) Radar will play an important role in "Operations Crossroads" when the atomic bomb is tested against 100 warships at Bikini Atoll. The Army Air Forces and the Fleet Air Arm have announced intention of using "drones," that is, pilotless, radar-controlled airplanes to study the bomb blast. These planes will be launched from the deck of a carrier. Each drone will be controlled by a monitor plane. The idea is to send these drones into the blast at various distances from the center of the explosion to record data on temperatures, pressures, lethal radiations, etc.

(4) But who shall say what the future will bring forth? Man dreams of journeys into space, of rocket ships that will visit not only the moon but the planets Venus and Mars. These dream are yet a long way off but radar signal have already been sent to the moon. The next step will be a radar-controlled rocket that carries no passengers. This radar may point the way for man to extend his field of travel beyond the little earth out into the far reaches of the solar system.

Beautiful Addition To Local Hotel Newly Furnished And Ready For Public Inspection

Tuesday evening The Flame Room at the Carver Hotel will have its formal opening. For some time past the room has been open for the patrons of the hotel, but only by use of temporary furnishings, as the comfortable leather upholstered booths had not arrived. It is anticipated that Warren will turn out en masse to visit the beautiful lounge, which has been arranged with a keen eye for comfort and beauty.

Mrs. Host Milburn Anderson and Manager Ray Malone are proud of this finely-equipped lounge, which they have dubbed The Flame Room, due to its furnishings and lighting effects. The room is most beautiful, with pastel shades on the ceiling and walls, the attractive booths and a magnificent rug covering the floor. The rug is in red shades and the indirect lighting at night gives a reddish glow that transforms the room into a bower of beauty.

The Flame Room is in the building formerly occupied by the Brown Clothing store and it was remodeled with much difficulty due to the trouble met with in securing building supplies. It adjoins the men's bar of the hotel in which has been placed booths that match those in the Flame Room. A handsome bar is placed on the north side of the men's bar and with a large mirror the array of glasses is highly attractive.

The new Carver Hotel which was purchased but a few months ago by Milburn Anderson and then incorporated is fast becoming a place of which Warren may well be proud. As soon as possible after being taken over by the new owners, workers of all kinds were turned loose in the structure. Rooms on the upper floors were all redecorated with new paper and paint. Halls were made attractive with paint and papers and the decorators have done much. New curtains and drapes have been placed in all of the rooms and as soon as possible it is hoped to have new and modern furnishings installed. Large numbers of new rugs are also being sought and will replace many of the badly worn floor coverings. The change has been a remarkable one and is welcomed by the travelling public which keeps the hotel filled at all times.

The lobby has been cleaned and decorated and other changes are to be made there in the future which will make it more attractive. The lounge on the east side of the hotel is also to be refurnished and made more attractive. The dining rooms have been re-ren society and it is again fast regaining that position.

The kitchens are also receiving attention and orders have been placed for stainless steel equipment throughout the culinary department and early delivery is anticipated. This will make the kitchen modern and should add to the speed of service.

Manager Ray Malone is working hard with President Milburn Anderson of the company owning the hotel to make it one of the outstanding hotels on Route 6. The task was a great one due to the fact that during the war years little had been done to make the hotel modern and attractive. Help had been hard to secure and it is freely admitted that the Hotel had run down badly.

However the policy now is to make the hotel modern in fittings although preserving as far as possible the features that made the hotel one of the best in this area for scores of years. Mr. Anderson in commenting on the task ahead said today, "We know we have a seemingly endless task in bringing the hotel back to where it can (Turn to Page Eight)

Lullabies By Phone

What could be more appropriate for National Baby Week, April 23 to May 4, than a lullaby—and when it comes by telephone, a new line to the Land of Nod—
then it's really Baby Week News. You have the word of Michael Maloney, who says he's been singing other folks' babies to sleep for more than a month, that one telephonic chorus of "Rock-a-bye Baby" and two of "Too-hee-loo-ra-loo-ra!" delivers most howling infants into the hands of the Sandman. Maloney, a diaper service route man, says he hit on the idea of singing lullabies over the phone while he delivered kiddies' unmentionables on his West Chester route for the General Diaper Service. He was promptly provided with a telephone, full time off from his route, and other drivers spread the word that a phone call would put the tune of the lullabydour (rhymes with troubadour, see?) at the service of the harassed mothers.

So far, Maloney says he has sung to more than 50 infants over the phone and business is picking up every day as the word gets around. A mild-spoken man with two grown children, Maloney never has done any professional singing, and classifies his soft tenor as "home grown." Although he says he can't read music, and can't play the piano, he's taken precautions to learn various national lullabies so that small fry accustomed to foreign tunes can have them. "I got a book of lullabies from other lands," he explains, "and a friend of mine who plays the piano gives me the tune. So I can hum lots of different lullabies—even one Chinese song."

At the moment, the telephonic lullaby is in an experimental stage, only. If babies continue to take to Maloney's singing, he says, the idea may be adopted on a wider scale by the National Institute of Diaper Services. If so, he envisions a whole corps of singers lullabying like mad all over the country.

Pauline Phyllis Rowland Is Bride Of Harry Henry Sarvis In Lander Church

Lander, April 22—The Methodist church here was the scene of a pretty spring wedding Saturday at 3:00 p. m., when Rev. Grant L. Mottern, of Jamestown, N. Y., united in marriage Miss Pauline Phyllis Rowland, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark Rowland, of Lander, and Harry Sarvis, of Erie, son of Mrs. Alfred Johnson, of Jamestown.

Easter lilies and palms, with lighted cathedral candles, formed the setting at the altar. Wedding music was furnished by Miss Harriet Lind, of Warren, pianist, who used the traditional wedding marches from "Lohengrin" and "Midsummer Night's Dream" as the processional and recessional.
Mrs. Maurice W. Rowland, of New Brunswick, N. J., aunt of the bride, sang "Because," "I Love

You Truly" and "Always".
The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Leah E. Rowland, of Buffalo, N. Y. She was gowned in ice pink, with fitted li-ous of satin, sweetheart neckline, and full skirt. She carried an arm bunch of yellow daffodils, the flowers being used as a tiara for hair.
The bride was escorted and giving away by her father. Her lovely wedding gown was of ivory-white brocade, fashioned with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves coming to a point over her hands, and full skirt ending in a train. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a suit-dress of navy blue, with navy and white accessories and a gardenia corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of navy, with matching accessories and gardenia corsage.

Groomsmen were Gaylor M.
Frazee, of Erie, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, as best man;
Edward J. Sarvis, of Jamestown, and E. Samuel Day, of Lander, as ushers.

A reception for 50 guests followed at the Rowland home. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom, and flanked by white tapers.

The newlyweds left for a motor honeymoon, to be at home after May 1 at Erie. For traveling, the bride chose a dress of aqua, with brown shorty topper and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The bride was graduated from Lander High School in 1940 and Hoff Business College in 1941, and since that time has been employed in the office of the Struthers-Wells Corporation and the Floridin Company, both of Warren.

Mr. Sarvis graduated from Lander High School the same year as his bride and was recently discharged after serving four years with the U. S. Navy SeaBees. At present he is employed by the Mc-Creary Construction Company in Erie.

Pre-nuptial affairs for the bride were given by the Misses Audrey Cramer and Eleanor Smith and Mrs. Willard Munson; Mrs. Alfred
Johnson and daughters; Miss Leah Rowland; Miss Neva Mills; Floridin office girls; Miss Gertrude Joy and Mrs. Miss White.

Wedding guests from away came from Jamestown, Buffalo, Randolph, and Lakewood, N. Y.,
New Brunswick, N. J., Erie, Harborcreek, DuBois, Big Run, State College, Allentown, Warren, North
Warren, Sugar Grove and Russell.

Newlyweds Will Reside In Warren

On Friday evening, April 12, in the post chapel at Newton D.
Baker Hospital, Martinsburg, W.
Va., Chaplain John A. McAfee officiated for the wedding of Miss Betty Lee Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lewis, of Wheeling, and Sgt. Jack A. Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert R.
Henry, of Sligo, who will soon make their home in Warren.

Attendants were Miss Mary Catherine Riser, of Wheeling, as maid of honor, and Robert H.
Welch, of Terre Haute, Ind., as best man. The bride was given in marriage by Carroll Thomas, of Wheeling.

Gowned in white, with fingertip veil, the bride carried a white prayer book with an orchid. Miss Riser wore pink, with shoulder veil, and carried a colonial bou-quet. The bride's mother and sister were in attendance, also, the former wearing red roses with a frock of blue.

Mrs. Henry will remain at her home in Wheeling until Sgt. Henry receives his discharge from the hospital.

with the newly elected regent, Mrs.
T. M. Greenlund, presiding. The meeting opened with a brief devotional service, with the chaplain,

Despite unfavorable weather con-

Tigers Lick Jinx, Cool Bob Feller in 10th, 3-2; Reds End Famine, Top Bucs Twice

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's snarling Tigers, having smashed a triple jinx that plagued them through the years by knocking their chops today and shouting defiance at the baseball experts who had predicted the wartime world champions would not repeat.

Prior to last season the Tigers had (1) lost their last eight opening games; (2) beaten pitcher Steve Gromek of Cleveland only once in seven tries; (3) taken the measure of Bob Feller but twice in his last nine starts against them, or since Rookie Floyd Gleason confounded the baseball world by outpitching the Indians' fireballer in a game which decided the 1944 pennant.

This year, in only five days, Detroit's darlings have (1) shattered their opening day hoodoo by belting the St. Louis Browns in the season's inaugural; (2) whipped Gromek 7-0 in his own ball-park before 42,775 routers; (3) triumphed over Feller, who before this season had beaten the Tigers more times than any other team.

Detroit had to travel into overtime yesterday to break the Feller jinx. The Tigers accomplished it in the 10th inning, 3-2, when Eddie Lake wrangled a free pass from the Van Meter (la) motor and scampered all the way home on a two-bagger by Eddie Mayo.

The Red Sox had to be satisfied with an even break against Philadelphia's Athletics, and were forced to stage a six-run ninth inning rally to even gain that. After George Metkovich's three-run homer climaxed the ninth inning onslaught, Ted Williams won the opener in the 10th with a bases-loaded single 12-11. The Sox behind old Bobo Newsom, gunning for his second straight victory, captured the second game 3-0 to snap Boston's five game winning streak.

The New York Yankees, pre-season favorites for the American League flag, kept pace with the Red Sox and Tigers by tripping Washington's Senators 6-1 behind the effective six-hit pitching of Spud Chandler.

The revenge-minded St. Louis Cardinals fought back from a three run sixth inning deficit to defeat the National League champion Chicago Cubs 7-6.

Brooklyn continued to feast on its cousins, the New York Giants, defeating their interborough rivals for the third straight time 2-1 as Rookie Joe Hatten outpitched Bill Voiselle for his first major league victory.

The Cincinnati Reds ended a victory famine by submerging the Pittsburgh Pirates in both ends of a double header 8-2 and 4-3.

Boston's Braves and Philadelphia's Phils divided a twin bill, the Braves winning the opener on a squeeze bunt in the 11th, 3-2, and the Phils, aided by Frank McCormick's two-run homer, taking the nightcap, 3-1.

Despite two four-hit jobs by Chicago White Sox pitchers, the St. Louis Browns took both games 2-1 and 4-2.

Kentucky Derby Run Shaping Up

New York, April 22—(P)—The field for the richest Kentucky Derby of them all rapidly has been rounding into shape lately, and it begins to look as if about 20 Gee-Gees will bounce out when the starter gives them that "come on, now!" at the Downs May 4.

As the jig-saw pieces begin to fit together, the whisper of last fall has become a loud voice—the forecast that the west would hold the big hand when they sit down to that $100,000 pot this year. Of the 20 more or less probable starters, only eight hang their hats around the Atlantic seaboard, and one is a Canadian. The west is sporting three from Kentucky, two each from Louisiana, Illinois and Michigan, and one each from Ohio and Texas.

Knights Win In Bradford Match

The local Knights of Columbus regaled another victory to the records yesterday when they scored a 3-1 verdict over the Recreation Alley crew at Bradford.

Sammy Cosmano turned in the high single for Warren a 197, and Mike Bleech led in the total count with a 542. Other high singles were Cosmano's 192, Bleech's 191 and 190, and Jim Giunta's 190.

Atoms Clinch Cage Title In Boys' League

The YMCA Boys' Basketball League closed its season Friday afternoon with the Atoms scoring a 34-32 victory over the Colts to cap the 1945-6 championship.

The Atoms, first half titlists, won their berth in the playoff by edging their rivals, 29-28, only a week ago. Jhillip Johnsen, a short, stocky forward, paced his mates with 12 points.

The Colts took the first lead in the game and held it at the first quarter mark, but the Atoms pushed back into the fight in the second period to take over the lead, 14-13.

The third stanza proved disastrous for the losers, as the Atoms marked up 15 points to the Colts' 11. The losers made a valiant attempt in the final canto to outdo the Atoms, but their hope was not quite sufficient. Lineups:

and disputes, also were named. They are:

Olen Bracken, of Corry, Steve Tritt of Warren, Ed Burkhardt of Meadville, Leo Callahan of Oil City and Father Cyril Cooper of Titusville.

It was revealed after the meeting that Albion, which had signed intention of participating in the circuit, has dropped out and that Union City has replaced the other Erie county entry.

A member of the league commission from Union City will be elected as soon as all formalities relevant to the business of making Union City a bona fide member are completed.

League competition is due to start June 1, a schedule having been adopted at last night's meeting. The schedule will be completed July 20 and a Shaughnessy playoff will follow, which will take several weeks but wind up competition before time for high school boys to get out their football bags.

The high enthusiasm that has marked all activities connected with formation of the league was evident again at last evening's parley and "Rosie" Rosequist of Warren reported that a meeting was held recently in Warren as a preparatory action in getting boys lined up for opening of practices and 160 lads turned out. A similar meeting is planned in Titusville late this month or early in May.

PRACTICE TONIGHT FOR WEST SIDERS

Nick Crela has called another practice session for the West Side entry in the Junior Baseball League. The session is scheduled for six o'clock tonight at the West Side diamond. All players are asked to bring equipment.

Fred Carman, assistant fire chief in Meadville, was elected high commissioner of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Moose Junior Baseball League at a meeting held in the Titusville Moose clubrooms Monday night. Members of the league's governing body, which will operate under Carman, and will make all decisions on policy

PONY League Opens Season On May 1; Changes Are Made

By JOHNNY NELSON JR.
Sports Editor, The Bradford Star-Record

Bradford, April 22—(P)—The Pennsylvania-Ontario-New York Class D baseball league opens its 1946 pennant race on May 1 with Bradford (Pa.) at Olean (N. Y.), Wellsville (N. Y.) at Hornell (N. Y.) Batavia (N. Y.) at Lockport (N. Y.) and Hamilton (Ontario) at Jamestown (N. Y.).

Each club will play 126 games at home and 63 on the road in a campaign that ends on September 2.

Since the 1945 season ended, Erie (Pa.) has given up its temporary franchise to return to the Middle Atlantic League; Hamilton, a St. Louis Cardinal farm and one of the charter members of the PONY, has entered competition for the first time since 1942; the Jamestown club was said by Harry Bisgier to Marine Captain John Jachym, and many new managers were selected.

Olean, operated by the Brooklyn Dodgers, will be managed by Greg Mullevy, veteran PONY League skipper who has had championship teams at Jamestown and Lockport.

Ray Sorenson In AAU Meet At New York

State College, April 22—Faced by Steve Greene, two-time rope climb champion, Penn State's unbeaten gymnast will seek their third National AAU team title in championship competition at New York May 4.—The Nittany Lions won their first title in 1943, and repeated in 1945.

Gene Wettstone, only college coach ever to produce two National championship teams, considers his present edition far superior to the squad that took last year's team, and probably one of the strongest of his eight-year regime.

Greene, crippled Philadelphia youth, will be seeking his third straight victory in the rope climb—an event in which he set the existing record of four seconds two years ago.

Wettstone-coached climbers have traditionally dominated this event, and now boast six straight successes in National competition.

Other members of the 1946 team, which has been materially strengthened by the addition of three pre-war performers, are Hal Frey, of Leighton, and George Hearn, of Erie, Indian Clubs; Stan Wirtschaffers of Philadelphia, and Ed Hobart, of Vineland, N. J., rope climb; Warren Neiger, of Philadelphia, and Ray Sorenson, of Warren, all-around; Bill Bon-sall, of Philadelphia, tumbling; and Charles Warrington, of Sun-bury, side horse.

Sorenson, a product of former local tumbling coach Homer Fleming, returned only recently to Penn State after serving in the armed forces. He is an expert parallel bar and sidehorse performer.

A DOUBLE LOCATES THE ADVERSE CARDS

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

In our delegation of eastern players who will attend Bridge Week in California in May, Pittsburgh will be represented by Mr.
and Mrs. Paul Thomas and Ivan Half. On a recent visit to Pittsburgh I played a few rubbers of bridge at Thomas's home, and when Paul reached four hearts on today's hand, West could not be criticized for doubling him. Nevertheless Thomas made the contract.

When the opening diamond lead held, West shifted to the jack of clubs, which Thomas won with the ace. He ruffed a diamond in dummy, and then made a very nice play. He led the queen of clubs from dummy, East covered with the king and Thomas ruffed, then

He reasoned that West must have all of the adverse high cards, so at this point he led the nine of a spade from his own hand. West ruffed with the three of hearts

What Can YOU DO To Get More Soap?

YOU CAN DREAM about the oceans of soap and soap powders you need so badly... and let the facts that help make them dribble down the drain. Some day, sure, you'll get more soap. But when?

Not until the country's industrial fat supply has been built up tremendously. Right now, it is at a record low.

Suppose, though, you want soap to come back to the counter sooner... what can you do?

YOU CAN SAVE your used fats... just as carefully as during the war. There's more meat now... more fat to save... so it's lots easier.

You American housewives are already turning in a healthy share of our present industrial fat supply. If you slacken up, naturally there'll be less fats. And less fats mean less soap, less of all peacetime products.

So keep saving. You get 4¢ for every pound... and every pound makes about two pounds of the soaps you need!

Where there's fat... there's soap

The Pennsylvania Electric Company, its management and employees, have received a Certificate of Award from the Navy Department for "meritorious service and outstanding performance rendered beyond responsibility during World War II". It was announced today by J. E. Feustermacher, district manager.

The certificate was presented to Walter C. Sontum, Penelco vice president, by Commodore W. M. Angus of Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks at a luncheon meeting of Utility representatives held at the University Club in New York City.

Addressing the meeting, Rear Admiral Monroe Kelly, Commandant of the Third Naval District, said the aid and cooperation given to the Government by utilities had been an important factor in shortening the war. Other speakers were Rear Admiral L. B. Combs and D. A. Sullivan, National Coordinator, Utilities War Time Aid Program.

Penelco furnishes electric power to industries in 16 Pennsylvania counties. During the war years, these industries produced fighting equipment which ranged from raw steel and heavy cuttings to rocket guns and complete control equipment.

Chapter 8

THE new adventurer was of medium height, and seemed to be rather slender than strongly built. His suit of armour was of the finest and the device on his shield was a young oak-tree pulled up by the roots, with the Spanish word Desdichado, signifying the champion ascended the platform, and, to the astonishment of all present, riding straight up to the central pavilion, struck with the sharp end of his spear the shield of Brian de Bois-Guilbert until it rung again. All stood astonished at his presumption, but none more than the redoubtable Knight whom he had thus defied to mortal combat, and who, little expecting so rude a challenge, was standing carelessly at the door of the pavilion.

"Take your place in the lists," said Bois-Guilbert, "and look your last upon the sun, for this night thou shalt sleep in paradise."

When the two champions stood opposed to each other at the two extremities of the lists, the public expectation was strained to the highest pitch. Few augured the possibility that the encounter could terminate well for the Disinherited Knight, yet his courage and gallantry secured the general good wishes of the spectators.

The trumpets had no sooner given the signal, than the champions vanished from their posts with the speed of lightning, and closed in the centre of the lists with the shock of a thunderbolt. The lances burst into shivers up to the very grasp, and it seemed at the moment that both knights had fallen, for the shock had made each horse recoil backwards upon its haunches. The address of the riders recovered their steeds by use of the bridle and spur, and having glared on each other for an instant with eyes which seemed to flash fire through the bars of their visors, each made a demi-volte, and, retiring to the extremity of the lists, received a fresh lance from the attendants.

A loud shout from the spectators, waving of scarfs and handkerchiefs, and general acclamations, attested the interest taken by the spectators in this encounter; the most equal, as well as the best performed, which had graced the day. But no sooner had the knights resumed their station, than the clamour of applause was hushed into a silence, so deep and so dead, that it seemed the multitude were afraid even to breathe.

A few minutes' pause having been allowed, that the combatants and their horses might recover by this encounter, the Disinherited Knight reeled in his saddle. On the other hand, that champion had, fair and true hit the Norman on the visor, where his lance's point kept hold of the bars. Yet, even at this disadvantage, the Templar sustained his high reputation, and had not the Disinherited Knight reeled in his saddle, he might not have been unhorsed. As it chanced, however, saddle, horse, and man, rolled on the ground under a cloud of dust.

To extricate himself from the stirrups and fallen steed, was to the Templar scarce the work of a moment; and, stung with madness, both at his disgrace and at the acclamations with which it was hailed by the spectators, he drew his sword and waved it in defiance of his conqueror. The Disinherited Knight sprang from his steed, and also unsheathed his sword. The marshals of the field, however, spurred their horses between them, and reminded them that the laws of the tournament did not, on the present occasion, permit this species of encounter.

"We shall meet again, I trust," said the Templar, casting a resentful glance at his antagonist; "and where there are none to separate us."

"If we do not," said the Disinherited Knight, "the fault shall not be mine. On foot or horseback, with spear, with axe, or with sword, I am alike ready to encounter thee."

THE conqueror then commanded his trumpet to sound a defiance to the challengers, and desired a herald to announce to them, that he should make no election, but was willing to encounter them in the order in which they pleased to advance against him.

The gigantic Front-de-Bœuf, armed in sable armour, was the first who took the field. Over this champion the Disinherited Knight obtained a slight but decisive advantage.

In the stranger's third encounter with Sir Philip Malvoisin, he was equally successful.

In his fourth combat with De Grantmesnil, the Disinherited Knight showed as much courtesy as he had hitherto evinced courage and dexterity. De Grantmesnil's horse, which was young and violent, reared and plunged in the course of the career so as to disturb the rider's aim, but declining to take the advantage which this accident afforded him, he wheeled his horse and rode back again to his own end of the lists, offering his antagonist, by a herald, the chance of a second encounter. This De Grantmesnil declined, avowing himself vanquished as much by the courtesy as by the address of his opponent.

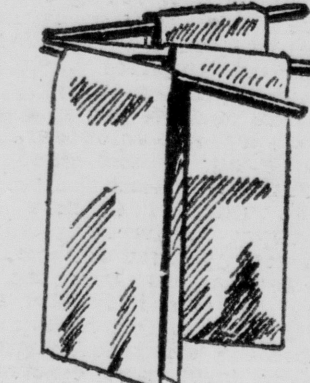

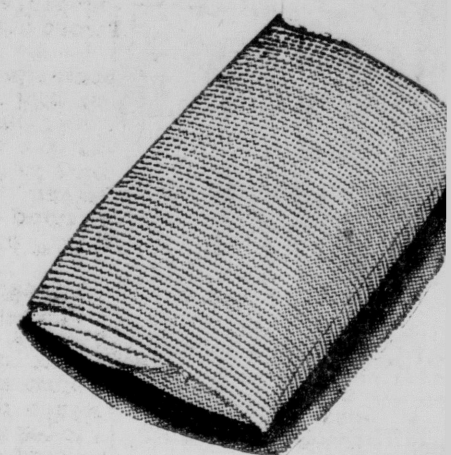

Ralph de Vipont summed up the list of the stranger's triumphs, being hurled to the ground with such force that the blood gushed from his nose and his mouth, and he was borne senseless from the lists.

The acclamations of thousands applauded the unanimous award of the Prince and marshals, announcing that day's honours to the Disinherited Knight.

Chapter 9

THE marshals of the field were the first to offer their congratulations to the victor, praying him, to suffer his helmet to be unlaced ere they conducted him to receive the prize of the day's tourney from the hands of Prince John. The Disinherited Knight, with all knightly courtesy, declined their request, alleging that he could not at this time suffer his face to be seen, for reasons which he had assigned to the heralds when he entered the lists. The marshals, therefore, pressed no farther into the mystery of the Disinherited Knight, but, announcing to Prince John the conqueror's desire to remain unknown, they requested permission to bring him before his Grace, in order that he might receive the reward of his valour.

The Disinherited Knight spoke not a word in reply to the compliment of the Prince, which he only acknowledged with a profound obeisance.

The horse was led into the lists by two grooms richly dressed, the animal itself being fully accoutred with the richest war-furniture; which, however, scarcely added to the value of the noble creature in the eyes of those who were judges. Laying one hand upon the pommel of the saddle, the Disinherited Knight vaulted at once upon the back of the steed without making use of the stirrup, and, brandishing aloft his lance, rode twice around the lists, exhibiting the points and paces of the horse with the skill of a perfect horseman.

In the meanwhile, the bustling Prior of Jorvaux had reminded Prince John, in a whisper, that the victor must now display his good judgment, instead of his valour, by selecting from among the beauties who graced the galleries a lady, who should fill the throne of the Queen of Beauty and of Love, and deliver the prize of the tourney upon the ensuing day. The Prince accordingly made a sign with his truncheon, as the knight passed him in his second career around the lists. The Knight turned towards the throne, and, sinking his lance, until the point was within a foot of the queen, remained motionless, as if expecting John's command; while all admired the sudden dexterity with which he instantly reduced his fiery steed from a state of violent emotion and high excitement to the stillness of an equestrian statue.

"Sir Disinherited Knight," said Prince John, "since that is the only title by which we can address you, it is now your duty, as well as privilege, to name the fair lady, who, as Queen of Honour and of Love, is to preside over next day's festival. It is your undoubted prerogative to confer on whom you please this crown, by the delivery of which to the lady of your choice, the election of to-morrow's Queen will be formal and complete. — Raise your lance."

The Knight obeyed; and Prince John placed upon its point a coronet of green satin, having around its edge a circle of gold, the upper edge of which was relieved by arrow-points and hearts placed interchangeably, like the strawberry leaves and balls upon a ducal crown.

The Disinherited Knight pacing forward as slowly as he had hitherto rode swiftly around the lists, seemed to exercise his right of examining the numerous fair faces which adorned that splendid circle.

It was worth while to see the different conduct of the beauties who underwent this examination, during the time it was proceeding. At length the champion paused beneath the balcony in which the Lady Rowena was placed with Cedric her fiancé, Athelstane in attendance, and the expectation of the spectators was excited to the utmost.

Whether, from indecision or some other motive of hesitation, the champion of the day remained stationary for more than a minute, while the eyes of the silent audience were riveted upon his motions; and then, gradually, gracefully sinking the point of lance, he deposited the coronet which it supported at the feet of the fair Rowena. The trump instantly sounded, while the aids proclaimed the Lady Rowena the Queen of Beauty and of Love for the ensuing day, menaces with suitable penalties should be disobeyed to her authority.

MORNING arose in unclouded splendour, and ere the sun was much above the horizon, the most eager of spectators appeared on the common, moving to the lists as if to a general centre, in order to see a favourable situation for viewing the continuation of the peated games.

According to due formality, Disinherited Knight was to be considered as leader of the body, while Brian de Bois-Guilbert, who had been rated as having done second-best in the preceding day, was named champion of the other band. The present occasion, about which knights were inscribed as sirs of combating upon a side.

As soon as Prince John served that the destined Queen the day had arrived upon the field, he rode forward to where, doffed his bonnet, and, alighting from his horse, assisted Lady Rowena from her saddle. "It is thus," said Prince John, "that we set the dutiful example of loyalty to the Queen of Love and Beauty, and are ourselves her guide to the throne which she must this day occupy. Ladies," he said, "attend ye Queen, as you wish in your turn to be distinguished by honours."

So saying, the Prince mounted shallowed Rowena to the seat of honour opposite his own, while the fairest and most distinguished ladies present crowded after to obtain places as near as possible to their temporary sovereign. No sooner was Rowena seated than a burst of music, drowned by the shouts of multitude, greeted her new dignity.
